

What Items Are Used to Celebrate Mass?

Chalice & Paten		The Chalice is the main cup used by the priest that holds the wine/Blood of Jesus. The paten is the flat, circular dish that holds the host/Body of Jesus for the priest.
Common Cup		The Common Cups are the cups that the congregation uses that hold the wine/Blood of Jesus. They are usually simpler in design than the priest's chalice.
Ciborium		The Ciborium are the larger bowls that the congregation uses that hold the hosts/ Body of Jesus.
Corporal		The Corporal is a square, white cloth that unfolds and is the first item placed on the altar. It protects the altar and collects any drops of wine and/or host fragments.
Purificator		The Purificator is a longer, rectangular cloth that is used wipe/clean the chalice and common cups after they are used.
Pall		The Pall is a stiff, square piece of cardboard covered in cloth. It is placed on top of the chalice to keep anything from accidentally falling into it.
Cruets		Cruets are a set of matching glass vessels with lids/stoppers. One cruet holds the wine, the other holds the water.
Lavabo Bowl, Pitcher & Towel		A Lavabo Bowl is simply a glass bowl with a glass pitcher used to wash the priest's hands. There is also a small hand-towel for drying the hands that is also used.
Aspergillum & Aspersorium		The Aspergillum is just a fancy name for the holy water sprinkler. The sprinkler, or Aspergillum, comes with a bucket/basin called an Aspersorium to hold the water.
Thurible & Boat		The Thurible is the vessel on a chain that is used for burning incense; it holds the hot coals. The Boat is the small container that holds the actual incense granules.
Roman Missal		The Roman Missal is the big red book with all the prayers the priest uses for Mass. It is a thick book usually with tabs along one edge to help the priest find certain pages.
Book of Gospels		The Book of the Gospels is another red book that is more rectangular and flatter than the Roman Missal. It has all the Sunday Gospel readings read at Mass.
